Eland was brought to the orphanage with his brother Roberde by relatives. He has five brothers and four sisters. His mother and father are both dead, and the relatives could not afford to feed or keep them. He had never been to school before, but he is now learning to read and write and loves school and learning English. He is a very bright young man and is very polite. Eland has a beautiful voice and loves to sing hymns. He is talented with his hands and loves to make little cars out of tin cans. He is a very humble boy.

Eland loves when we take a trip to Kaliko Beach, appreciates having clothes and food to eat every day, and his favorites are rice and beans, chicken and Mommy Lynda's banana pudding. He loves Mommy Lynda because she helps them and enjoys her reading a story in the book.
